

Toronto Data Mining User Group (Cont')

Sponsored by SAS

As membership has increased, the group's executive team has sought to provide more data mining tips, tricks and guidance through the developments of a Web site. There, members will be able to access the latest information about upcoming forums and events and view past presentations. They can suggest specific topics for future forums, and much more. The Toronto Data Mining User Group Web site will be available soon at www.torontodatamining.ca.

The group's primary goal is to recognize individual data miners and their contributions and introduce them to the network of fellow data miners. Knowing the value that data miners add to every profession the real question becomes: "What is the highest level a data miner has achieved? Is there a CDMO?" By working together and promoting and improving the role of data miners everywhere, the Toronto Data Mining User Group hopes to bring the idea of a chief data mining officer to reality.
