

Code of Content

We are committed to creating a welcoming, respectful and inclusive event. Our code of conduct applies to all attendees, presenters, sponsors, partners and SAS team members. We expect cooperation from all participants.

We value your attendance at SAS® Global Forum. For the best experience, we ask that you:

- Show respect: Be professional, polite and constructive.
- Contribute your thoughts: The more you engage, the better experience you and others will have.
- Participate actively: Feel free to ask your questions and share your knowledge.

Please do not:

- Make discriminatory, harassing, abusive, derogatory, or otherwise offensive remarks, including but not limited to libelous or defamatory remarks, slurs, discrimination, profanity or other abusive or vulgar language, and the promotion of negative sentiments.
- Post spam, including but not limited to sharing the same content multiple times on the same thread, sharing irrelevant content, or offering unsolicited commercial services.
- Promote or disparage competitors. If discussions involving other technology companies take place, please refrain from promoting or disparaging comments. Advertising and/or selling of competing products is not welcome.

By attending this virtual event, your participation is also subject to the Terms of Use for SAS web properties and the SAS Privacy Statement. We are committed to creating a welcoming, respectful and inclusive event. Our code of conduct applies to all attendees, presenters, sponsors, partners and SAS team members. We expect cooperation from all participants.

If asked to stop inappropriate behavior, immediate compliance is required. Participants may be removed from the event at the discretion of SAS Global Forum. If you witness or are subjected to inappropriate behavior or have any other concerns, notify a member of the SAS Global Forum team at sasglobalforum@sas.com.
