The Market: Analytics and Big Data Defined

Descriptive analytics, also known as business intelligence, enables fact-based decisions in a reactive or historical way. Descriptive analytics helps to optimize a business’s bottom line, but not top-line growth.

Predictive analytics helps leaders derive insights from their data by combining techniques from statistics, data mining and machine learning to not only show the current situation, but also predict the best next step.

Big data describes the exponential growth and availability of data, both structured and unstructured. The potential for more accurate analyses means big data may be as important to business — and society — as the Internet.

Big data analytics is the process of examining big data to uncover hidden patterns, correlations and other useful information that can be used to make better decisions.

SAS has products to fulfill each of the levels of information evolution. The highest value to the customer is in the predictive analytics area.
